Jere Caples Shot by Will Gegel in a Notorious Dive.

MURDERER STILL AT LARGE.

Fatal Ending to a Thanksgiving Eve Growler Party Given by a Gang of Thieves and Thugs.

Jere Caples died last night as he had lived, full of beer and surrounded by his tolen booty and his thieving pals. He was murdered in "Snake" Kenney's saloon, Second and Carr streets, by Will including the dead man's brother, protected the murderer in his escape and he is now ted the police were in the dark as to whethted the police were in the dark as to whether Caples met his death by accident or murder. His cronies claimed that he had accidentally shot himself, each telling identically the same story. The Third District men knew the tale was a lie, but even after looking the whole crowd up they could force nothing from them until Detectives McGrath and O'Connell learned from outside sources the Gorel was the murdery. ide sources that Gegel was the murderer. Then they all confessed to the truth, but refused to tell the cause of the quarrel.

Kenney's saloon is one of the toughest dives in St. Louis. For a long time it has been the resort of the most netorious thieves who haunt Capt. Joyce's district and make his life and that of his officers rejective.

afterwards appeared. Just at the back door of the saloon and across a three-foot brick walk is a little room known as the "kitchen." Martin Egan and his family use it for cooking purposes during the day and at night it serves as a club-room for the gang. It is a miserable hole, rotten with filth—a fit place for a crook to die in.

Here the gang gathered Wednesday night. It was Thanksgiving eve and a riot of debauchery was on the card. The growler was kept going constantly, but silently for the fear of blue coat interference with these people suffices to restrain undue noise. In the merry party were the two Caples, Jere and Will, Joe Laughlin, Richard Walsh, John McCale and Dave Hickey. Fred Fritsch, who was afterwards involved, was upstairs, sick with the rheumatism.

What happened along toward the early morning hours in the den is gathered from the statements of the men who participated in the crime which was committed.

The first information the police had was

The first information the police had was when Will Caples came to the Third District Station about 5 o'clock in the morning and reported that his brother had accidentally shot himself in the head. Officers Spoeneman and Reagan were dispatched to the scene immediately.

The wounded for Callahan already there. neman and Heagan were dispatched scene immediately. They found Officer Callahan already there. The wounded man was lying in Martin Egan's quarters on the second floor. He had been carried there by his friends after the shooting. He was unconscious at the time and Reagan hastened back to the station to send for an ambulance. When it arrived the man was dead and the body was sent to the Morgue.

to the Morgue.

Meantime Sergt. McKenna arrived and ordered the whole crowd under arrest. They had a story ready, but it was a this one. Will Caples did the lying and the others concurred in all his statements.

"It was about 4:30," said Caples, "when the shooting occurred. They had been up drinking all night. Jere was playing with a revolver, and in fun he pointed it at his brother.

"Don't do 2-1."

"Don't do that," Will says he exclaimed,
"It might go off."
"Oh, it won't hurt you," was Jere's alleged reply. "Look here," and with that he pointed the revolver at his own head and pulled the trigger. There was an explosion and Jere fell back unconscious.

him. Then notice of the shooting was given the police.

Sergt. McKenna knew this was a lie. He suspected that there had been a quarrel, for in the kitchen the officers found two chickens in a pot on the rusty stove. There was a burgiary at Hageriy's commission house on Third street during the night and there is where the chickens came from. Sergt. McKenna suspected that there had been a quarrel over the division of this petty plunder, and ordered all hands locked up. A strange feature of the case was that no revolver could be found. None of the men in the room would tell what became of if and as a platol with two empty chambers was found in Fritsch's foom he also was locked up.

"You've shot Jere," Will Caples exclaimed.
"I didn't mean to," was the murderer's answer. Is he hurt bad—I'm sorry,"
Then he disappeared.
The gang decided on the story to give the police and Will Caples went to the station and informed them of the accident.
Richard Walsh shims that he does not know what the cause of the quarrel was. He was half asleep when he heard the two men cursing and then came the shot. The revolver was Walsh's. He claims he brought it down with him to sell. It is supposed Gegel ran away with it.
The police all over the city are searching for the murderer. He is well known in criminal circles, having served a term in the penitentiary for burglary. The Caples boys were twins. Both have bad reputations. The dead man has been in the Works-House for larceny.

The murder will probably result in closure Xenergy served. House for larceny.

In vain did many friends shake the picture of the lady before Justice Holbrook, and declare that there was nothing immoral or tending to cause the youth of the land to be as a shandoned like at the sight of it. The Society for the Suppression of Vice in the person of George Oram pleaded for vanguance and got it. They wanted Mr. Brewer to take charge of a beautiful daughter of one of the swindlers and asked him to send for the young woman, or send the wherewithal to take her to America, in consideration of which the $2,000,000 would be placed in his charge, and of it $500,000 was to be his payment. After correspondence with one Antonio Roderigue, at Farragons, Mr. Brewer was asked to forward money to get the trunk out of the power of the authorities and to aid in smuggling the girl out of the country. Mr. Brewer was contented with simply writing letters.

Finally, when Mr. Brewer received a letter saying his Farragona correspondent was dead, he wrote to the police authorities there for particulars and the story was branded as a fabrication.

Charles Palmer of the T. P. A. Found Unconscious in His Room.

Charles Palmer, presumably a member of the Travelers' Protective Association, was taken to the Dispensary at 1 o'clock Thurs-day apparently dying from morphine poison-

At 12:40 o'clock Palmer was found unconscious in his room at the Columbia House, Broadway and Lucas avenue. He had been at the house two days and no one there knows anything about him, except that he said he was a St. Louis man and he wore a T. P. A. button. He dressed well, was very reticent and appeared to be 30 years old. He left a call when he went to bed Wednesday night for noon Thursday. He failed to respond to a call at that hour and forty minutes later the clerk opened the door and found him unconscious. He was sent at once to the Dispensary. When he arrived there his death seemed imminent.

GOULD CHECK

How Zella Nicolaus Failed to Open a Bank Account With It.

INTERVIEW WITH GEORGE.

She Get an Installment of Cash, But the Shrewd Young Man Retained the Check.

story of Zella Nicolaus and George Gould and the $40,000 check. Much has been said and much written about this mystery. Sev eral explanations, some of them clever and plausible, have been put forward. But, as is always the case, the truth is cleverer and more interesting than fiction. It was a few weeks after Zella had got acquainted with Howard Gould at Chicago during the World's Fair that in the first week of July he received a check for $40,000 from New York. It represented his share of the interest on Missouri Pacific bonds for the first six months of 1893.

the first six months of 1893.

The check represented his income for half a year under the will of the late Jay Gould. It is not stated how the check, properly indorsed on the back by its owner, came into Miss Nicolaus' possession. She says that it was given to her freely. The owner says she took it. At all events the next day she appeared at the window of the receiving teller of the First National Bank of Chicago.

"I wish to open an account," she said, "and as a beginning I wish to deposit this check."

Bank of Chicago.
"I wish to open an account," she said,
"and as a beginning I wish to deposit this check."
The receiving teller took the check, looked at the amount, looked at Zella, looked at the indorsement, looked at Zella, looked at the indorsement, looked at Zella, looked at the indorsement, looked at Zella, then consulted with the cashler. The upshot of the matter was that Zella was invited into the private office of President John Walsh. He questioned her politely, acknowledging her offers to bring any number of people to identify her, and then regretfully told her that he would have to ask her to bring the Gould heir, whose name was on the face and also on the back of the check. Zella thanked him and went away. So she went from bank to bank, offering to open an account with that big check. And everywhere there was the same politic caution.
She could not open the account anywhere.
Everyone wished a note from the Gould heir or the Gould heir in person.

Then she decided to try New York banks.
She came to New York and began her weary round.

"But you recognise the signature on the back," she said, impatiently, to one politely deprecating bank president.

"Oh, yes," he said, "the signature is genuine, but—but—we don't exactly understand. You must really axouse us."

Zella got rather desperate. She decided to take the check to George Gould. So one morning she appeared at his offices in the Western Union and sent a note in, saying that she wished to see Mr. Gould on a personal, family matter. She was admitted, and, when isft alone with George Gould told him that she had a check which he wished to cash, a check that had been riven to her by one of his family. She produced the check over. He recognized the universal the check over. He recognized

"Mr. Gould is very sorry, but he is too busy to see you."

"When will he see me." said Zella, for the first time suspecting.

"He will be busy all day," said the boy, returning a second time.

Zella went away to her hotel and sat down and wrote to George Gould. She got no answer. She wrote again and yet again many times and still no answer.

When George Gould grew weary of her bombardment of notes, he sent for his friend Byrmes, then at the head of the Police Department, and a mighty powerful person. George Gould told Byrnes the whole story. Byrnes admired George's management of the case, except the giving of £500 on account.

"That was bad, very bad," said Byrnes. Still, he agreed to do the best he could. He sent for Zella and proceeded to "throw a soare into her," as they used to call those was a soare into her," as they used to call those the sent of the sent of scare sinto her, as they used to can toose underground proceedings in the good old days in Mulberry street. The scare was most effective and Zella went abroad in a tremor.

On the way over, she had a good chance to think and she decided that she had made a fool of herself. So back she came, almost on the next steamer and renewed her attack. Zella got lawyers and settled in Jersey City, and then formally began her assault. Whether George Gould will let the case come to trial is a question that cannot be answered. He does not like the idea of a scandal that will involve one of the Goulds. Whether Zella will dare let the case go to trial is yet another question.

sell and Mr. Filley's ten Congressmen from Missouri are eating turkey to-day in a truly thankful frame of mind. The action of the Indiana and Ohio delegations last night in surrendering to the Quay-Platt-Filley com-bine McDowell's claims on the Clerkship probably makes Russell certain of being Sergeant-at-Arms of the House, unless the opposition manage to make a break for Henderson, which is very unlikely. So highly elated are the Missourians to-day that they look upon the thing as settled.

Congressmen Bartholdt and Rainey, who came in last night, can find no means of exercising their diplomatic talents, so they have leisure to work out personal plans. Mr. Bartholdt proposes to push his bill to get an appropriation of $300,000 for the improvement of Jefferson Barracks and he has the unlited support of the Missouri delegation. He is also enthusiastic over St. Louis' prospects for getting the Republican National Convention.

Mr. Russell, if elected Sergeant-at-Arms, wil get $4,500 salary per annum. He will also dispense one salary of $3,000, two or $2,000, one of $550. The distinctively American festival of Thanksgiving is being properly celebrated in St. Louis. Business in all public places is suspended, most merchants have given their employes a holiday, the street cars are running on a Sunday schedule, the lawyers have ceased from troubling and the real estate dealer is at rest. The doctors are girding up their loins and preparing to answer night calls to quell intestinal insurrections consequent upon an intemperate indulgence in roast turkey and fruit cake.

A fair sprinkling of the people of St. Louis can trace their lineage back to the sturdy

At the trial Hirsch sure that he saw the damage done. The fleightness company took an appeal to the clicuit Court, where it will come up at the December term.

The second case is more serious. Two years ago Andrew Adamson, husband of the woman, ded, and a few days after a will was filed for probate in which his property, estimated at some $2,000, was left to the widow. Other claimants appeared, how witnessed the signature, meanwhile, had disappeared, and Himsch was put on the will was contested. Judge Wilderman sustained H. The hotels are all serving extra spreads for the homeless, and the boarding-houses have "put the big pot in the little one," as the Southern cook describes an unusual effort to provide a notable feast. The poor have not been forgotten. Every eleemosynary organization in the city is doing something to cheer the hearts and warm the stomachs of the unfortunate and if anybody goes hungry in St. Louis this day of our Lord it will be his or her own fault.

Even the criminal classes are coming in for a share of the pleasures of the day. There are extras on the bills of fare at all the penal institutions and places of detention.

Various social gatherings are on the programme for the evening but the annual ball of the Describers of the Confederacy overshadows them all. It will take place at the Merchants' Exchange and preparations have been made to insure that it will eclipse in brilliancy all its predecessors.

The only entrance to the ball room will be on Third street and carriages are requested to drive south on that thoroughfare.

A disruption seems imminent in the ranks of the Old Orchard Vigilant Committee.

The ladies of Old Orchard have expressed themselves as at variance with the methods pursued by members of the committee. They say the Vigilants' ideas of humor carry them too far in the execution of their assumed duties and that they are unfeeling affil inhuman in their treatment of unfortunate tramps who chance to strike Old Orchard after dark.

Haif a score of the valiant vigilants, armed to the teeth, captured a lenely tramp the other night and marohed him to Dismal Lake for a ducking. They had him partiy disrobed and were about to plunge him, but he pleaded and prayed so piteously that he was spared the ordeal and hustied out of town.

The Old Orchard Vigilant Committee was organised about ten days ago. It comprises eighty members, and Vigilant Chief A. J. Plock orders ten men on patrol duty every night. Loaded down with shot guns pistole and knives they keep the weary vigil. Numerous robberies are the cause of the organization. Even the astute Judge un, but rumor says he does this more to keep tab on vigilants ther on the robbers.

in regard to the suspension. "I think the decision is unjust and so do all the cyclists around the club here, and ever body that I have heard speak on the subject is of the opinion that the matter should be taken into the courts, where it is believed the menwould be exonerated."

C. C. Hildebrand, manager of the bicycle department at Meacham's, said: "I think Dute Cabanne is as innocent of any crooked work as I am, and I am satisfied that he was a victim of circumstances and was convicted on hearsay evidence. I had much to do in developing Dute as a bicycle rider and managed him in 1894. I know him to be thoroughly honest in everything he does, and was much surprised to hear of this conviction. This case will not end here. It is all right for Chairman Gideon to suspend a rider for six months or a year, but when he suspends a man for life, taking away his means of gaining a living, the punishment becomes unjust and I think the courts will settle the matter in Cabanne's favor.

"I have no doubt but that Spalding and the Bicycle Board of Trade will make war on the L. A. W. so long as Gideon is connected with the organisation and believe that a professional class of riders will be

NO FAKE CYCLE RACES.

It is severe punishment which th Racing Board of the League of American Wheelmen has meted out to Messrs Cabanne, Titus and Murphy. But if the charges made against them are true, the punishment was fully deserved, and the Racing Board is to be commended for ts courageous action.

It is perfectly legitimate for the disgraced cyclists to appeal either to the National Assembly, as Chairman Gideon suggests, or to the courts. If they can establish their innocence in either tribunal, not only their own friends but the friends of cycling as a sport will be gratified. Such a method of defense will be much more effective as well as wiser than the plan which has been pursued until now of abusing Mr. D. W. Robert and his associates on the Racing Board. If strong evidence of the truth of the charges was presented, the officials of the League of American Wheelmen could not do otherwise than they have done if cycling as a sport is to be kept out of the clutches of fakirs and race track gamblers. The cyclists of two continents are interested in maintaining the integrity of cycling as a legitimate and honest sport. The moment it falls under the suspicion of being conducted as horse racing is conducted, the League of American Wheelmen must sever all connection with it. Bicycle racing must be kept honest or must be abandoned to

MRS. GETZ AND "THE TRIBUNE."

The Chicago Tribune takes up val-antly "the cause of Mrs. Getz of St. at says editorially:

The discrimination practiced against Mrs. Getz by the Board of Fire Underwriters in St. Louis is at once cowardly and disgrace ful. The expulsion from the board of the insurance firm of F. D. Hirschberg & Bro., which employed her, is a business outrage of a pusillanimous character. The outcome of this action will be the ultimate and speedy discomfiture of the board, if public sentiment has any weight in that city.

Following this introduction, the Trib une makes an effective summary of the facts in the case, which, as it says, are in themselves sufficiently condemnatory. To point its article the Tribune then quotes liberally from an editorial which appeared in the Post-Dispatch, crediting all its excerpts, however, to the St. Louis

269,536 178,949 There are some amazing things revealed in this table—things which show more clearly than a thousand speeche in Congress could, why the Northeast-ern States are hostile to the free colnage of silver and determined that the scarcer of our two money metals shall be the measure of all values. While in each of the agricultural States of the West and South there are a great many more voters than depositors, in the first seven of the nine Northeastern States there are a great many more depositors than

With the object of making the compar ison as fair as possible, let us take the three-oldest and most prosperous of the Western States—Ohio, Indiana and Illi-nois. The first of these has 850,164 voters and 85,614 depositors—one depositor to every ten voters. The next, Indiana, has 554,394 voters, and 16,127 depositors—one depositor to thirty-four voters; and the third, Illinois, has $73,646 voters, and 84,861 depositors—one depositor to eleven

Now take the first three and least wealthy of the Northeastern States-Maine, New Hampshire and Vermontand we find that the first has 38,911 more New Hampshire, there are 89,329 voters and 174,654 depositors—two depositors to every voter. In the third, Vermont, there are 55,787 voters and 89,115 depos 33,328 more depositors than voters. Every voter in the State has, on an average $305 on deposit in a savings bank, and 33,328 persons who are not voters, presumably women and children, are in the same comfortable condition. Yet there is not a single large city in either of these three Northeastern States, and the populations of all three put together is less than that of a single city in Illinois. When we make the comparison be tween the wealthlest of the Northeastern States and the new and least wealthy of the Western States, the disproportion is prodigiously increased.

Massachusetts has 391,028 voters and 1,189,936 depositors—three depositors to every voter-showing that all the voters and twice as many women and children beside have an average deposit of $3 the very large number of persons who have deposits in National banks, State banks and trust companies in addition. Rhode Island has 53,168 voters and 142,492 depositors—more than twice as many depositors as voters.

Connecticut has 164,360 voters and 331, 061 depositors-twice as many depositors

Even in the populous State of New York depositors outnumber voters by

But how insignificant is the showing of the newer Western States in this comparison—Wisconsin only one depostor to 270 voters; Iowa one depositor to 60 voters; Minnesota one depositor to 60 voters; while the States of Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, the two Dakotas and Wyoming have plenty of voters but no sitors at all.

In the Southern States matters are no better, for all the depositors in those States put tegether make only 58,000— less than half the number in Rhode Island alone.

Burnham, Fresident of the association frankly telling him that my confidence in the officers of the association was destroyed by their action of July fin increasing the rate of assessment in violation of the policy contracts which I hold; that I desired to surrender my three policies and bonds, and asked him to make me an offer for the same; that I had paid into the association neariy $0.00, and if he had faith in the continuance of the association that in the continuance of the association made from the exhibits issued by the association in the continuance of the succession which his man Hoeber. But the President's evident along the first proposed in the fight which they acting when the fight which they acting when many prompted him to make an effort to conciliate me, apparently entertaining the very erroneous opinion that I might influence other dissatisfied policy holders to with the succession in a maintenance of their rights. Accordingly he wrote me the following letter:

"President's Office, Mutual Reserve Fund Life Association, Mutual Reserve Building

ing. New York, October 3, 1885.

"Mr. J. W. Buel, 310 Olive Street, St. Louis, Mo.:

"Dear Sir—Your letter of the 7th inst., which was received and acknowledged by Treasurer Vrooman during my recent absence from the city, has just been placed before me. Refore entering upon the negotiation suggested by you, permit me to ask if a satisfactory price for the purchase of your policies is agreed upon, it will include a discontinuance of the movement against the association, both by yourself and those associated with rou. Yours truly,

"F. A. BURNHAM, President."

This is the way my overtures were rejected, viz., by an outright proposition, so to speak, to buy me off. instead of encouraging negotiations or giving an intimation that I might be induced to abandon my opposition and also the policy holders who had sustained me in what I have done, I turned Mr. Burnham's letter over to my attorney, Mr. Bacon, who replied that his clients felt that there is a principle involved and that it is their duty to do what they can to stop further operations of the association.

I call upon Mr. Burnham or his emisiton.

I call upon Mr. Burnham or his emissaries to publish any letter that I wrote him, and also any and all facts which he or they may know tending in any manner to compromise me, or to discredit the motives which I have professed.

I have no disposition to continue our contention in the newspapers, especially since it is now in the courts, where an adjudication of my claims against the association will soon be made.

With both arms and one leg broken and With both arms and one leg broken and suffering intensely from internal injuries Mary Bird, a poor bindery girk, 24 years old, lay all night long at the bottom of the elevator shaft at Fox & Curran's printing house, 401 North Third street. For ten hours the girl had lain where she fell, unable to call for assistance, but conscious and thoroughly cognizant of her position. The girl fell down the shaft at 9:20 o'clock at night and was not discovered until 7:30 in the morning, when the elevator boy went to oll the machinery. carriage. Her parents had worried all night, as it was the first time she was ever away from home. Dr. Guhman says she will probably die.

The accident happened in a peculiar manner. Miss Bird put on her wraps and started home. She was on the third floor and the elevator was above her. As she looked down she became dizzy and fainted and toppled head foremost down the shaft, striking on the cellar floor. She regained consciousness at once, but was powerless to speak above a whisper.

Half a dozen times the elevator moved up and down, and each time she feared it would come on down to the cellar and crush her life out. At last it stopped on the first floor and she heard everybody leave the place. As the long night wore wearliy on she heard the watchman come and go on the floor above, but no one had seen her fall and her only hope of rescue lay in the possibility of somebody finding her when morning dawned.

At 6 o'cleck the engineer came in with his lantern. He passed within a few feet of her, but she could not make her presence known. She saw him start his fires and then sit for half an hour calmly smoking his pipe, gazing in her direction, but as she was in the dark he could not see her. Anhour later the bindery girls came in and then the press hands and printers and she feared that the elevator would descend and mash her to a jelly. The strain was something terrible and she feared she would jose her reason.

Hall can be easily settled, as Albert Guissert, the architect who drew the "Pro Pateria" plans, which were awarded first place in the competition, is in St. Louis, and has been here since his plans were submitted five years ago. He is employed as a draughtsman by J. L. Wees, the architect, in the Commercial Building.

It is charged that Architect Mann has used his own plans, "St. Louis, 1892," on the exterior, and Guissert's "Pro Patria" plans in the interior arrangement. Mr. Guissert's testimony in the matter can easily be had and would doubtless prove interesting in the investigation which is going on. CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 28.—The controversy over that part of Senator Sherman's book relating to Garfield's nomination led ex-Senator Ingalis to say yesterday:

"I happened to be in Washington on business when Garfield died in September, 1881, and was one of the Senators named to attend the remains to Cleveland. Mr. Sherman was also a member of the committee, and the train had hardly left the city limits before we fell in conversation about the dead President, his character and his career. Mr. Sherman spoke with intense feeking, and the impression left on my mind was that he believed he had been deliberately betrayed by the men chosen to advocate his momination.

"For weeks before the convention of 188 there were vague whispers of Garneld is the air at Washington. I was sitting one day in the Senate restaurant with a Senator new prominently mentioned as a candidate for the Presidency. We were talking about prominency. We were talking the Presidency. We were talking agreed contest then approaching and agreed considering the bitter rivality among considering the bitter rivality among aspirants, the nomination of Garfield aspirants, the nomination of Garfield aspirants.

"Just at that moment Garfield entered the room. We called him to our table, and he joined in our repast. We told him what we had been talking about, and jocularly tendered him our congratulations. He made an embarrassed attempt at repartee, but his tone and manner left no doubt in my mind that the subject was neither novel nor repulsive to him.
"I was in college with Garfield at Williams," said Mr. Ingalls, "and our relations were cordial until his death. He was incapable of intrigue, treason or stratagem. The fatal defect in his character was an infirmity of purpose that disqualined him for administrative or executive functions."

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 28.-The Transmississippi Commercial Congress has adjourned. The event of the closing session was the the free and unlimited coinage of silver on a 16 to 1 basis. The vote was 50 for gold to 127 for silver. W. J. Bryan led the friends of the white metal and J. L. Webster of spirited and was participated in by most of the delegates. This is the resolution:

"Resolved, That the United States Congress be asked to take such steps as may be necessary to held a Transmississippi exposition in Omarha during the months of August, September and October, in the year and Territories in Congress be requested to favor such an appropriation as is usual in such cases to assist in carrying out this enterprise."

The invention of Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y., has, during the past thirty years, made a record in the cure of bronchial, throat and lung diseases that fairly entitles it to outrank all other advertised remedies for these affections. Especially has it manifested its potency in curing consumption of the lungs. Not every case, but we believe of all cases of consumption, in all its earlier stages, are cured by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, even after the disease has progressed so far as to induce repeated bleedings from the lungs, severe lingering cough with copious expectoration (including tubercular matter), great loss of flesh and extreme emaciation and weakness.

Do you doubt that hundreds of such cases reported to us as cured by "Golden Medical Discovery" were genuine cases of that dread and fatal discase? You need not take our word for it. They have, in nearly every instance, been so pronounced by the best and most experienced home physicians, who have no interest whatever in misrepresenting them, and who were often strongly prejudiced and advised against a trial of "Golden Medical Discovery," but who have been forced to confess that it surpasses, in curative power over this fatal malady, all other medicines with which they are acquainted. Nasty cod-liver oil and its fifthy "emulsions" and mixtures, had been tried in nearly all these cases and had either utterly failed to benefit, or had only seemed to Benefit a little for a short time. Extract of malt, whiskey, and various preparations of the hypophosphites had also been faithfully tried in valu.

The photographs of a large number of those cured of consumption, bronchita, lingering coughs, asthma, chronic masal catarrh and kindred maladies, have been skillfully reproduced in a book of 160 pages which will be mailed to you, on receipt of address and six cents in stamps. You can then write those cured and learn their experience.

PUTTING UP RATES

The Price for Steerage on Atlantic Steamers to Be Advanced.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—A local paper says:
Before Dec. 4, when an agreement which the Continental steamship lines have just ratified goes into effect, an increase in steerage rates will be announced. This is probably one of the most important steps ever taken by the steamship companies toward the organization of a cast fron pool.

It is the forerunner of a scheme, according to a well informed steamship man, to advance first and second-class rates of trans-Atlantic travel as well. It is a pooling of issues similar to the recently formed railroad combination in which competition is put out of the question and the profits of the companies interested are increased.

Thus far only the American, Anchor, Cunard, Allan, State and White Star lines are interested in the pool. It is understood, however, that overtures will be made to the remaining trans-Atlantic lines, and siready the question of a universal formation has been placed before these lines.

The steerage rates of travel on vessels from this port will be placed at an almost prohibitive figure. That is, where it formerly cost from 30 to 325 to travel on these steamers, the rate will be raised to from 30 to 34. This is within a few dollars of the second-class rates on these steamships.

Thos vessels eligible for the second-class, in which the steerage rates have been figured on at a decrease of from three to five dollars from the first-class rate, are such craft as the Umbri- and Etruria of the Cunard line, Adriadio and Britannic of the Whice Star Line and Chester of the Amertean Line. The rate on these vessels will be not less than $27, which is much higher than the existing steerage rate on any transAtlantic line NEW YORK, Nov. 28 .- A local paper says:

WEDDED TO HER OLD LOVER.

Ralph Dreyfus Marries Mrs. Sarah

Hellman in Brooklyn. BROOKLYN, N. Y., Nov. 28.-Mrs. Sarah BROOKLYN, N. Y., Nov. 28.—Mrs. Sarah Hellman, formerly Miss Sarah Block, has been marfied to Raiph Dreyfus, a diamond broker. Breyfus was a suitor for Miss Block's hand; but a year ago she married a broker named Hellman. While Mr. and Mrs. Hellman wore on their wedding trip they stapped at Albany and registered at the Delavan House. Fire broke out while they were in their room on the third floor. Both jumped together. Mr. Hellman died the same night. Mrs. Hellman's life was despaired of. Dreyfus called at her home daily and offered what consolation he could to his former sweetheart. When she was convalencent Dreyfus renewed his sixt with increased ardor and the wedding followed.

Aged Veteran Convicted.

FORT SMITH, Ark., Nov. 28.—John J. Overton, claiming to be 38 years old, was convicted in the United States Court yesterday of forging two affidavits in support of his application for an increase of pension, in 1892. He admitted that the affidavits were forgeries, but discound responsibility and blamed a Washington pension agent. He says he was 56 which the war began, but gave, his age as 50 in order to enliet in an dewa regiment. He broke down after a month's service and was discharged.

WOMAN LAWYER WINS. Miss Mary Philbrook's Conduct of

Case in New Jersey. ELIZABETH, N. J., Nov. 28.-Miss Mar Philbrook, the first woman admitted to the bar in New Jersey, appeared before Judge bar in New Jersey, appeared before Judge McCormick yesterday as counsel for Mrs. Lawrence Collins and argued against the sale of certain lands, charging fraud on the part of the husband, with whom her client has not lived for some time. The Judge ordered that all of the testimony in the case be taken before Surrogate Parrott. This was a victory over the defense, which claimed plaintiff had no cause for action.

The Young Lady Has a Magnificent Voice and Was Preparing to Make Her Debut in Grand Opera.

Washington boulevard have announced the engagement of their daughter Louise to Mr. William Dana Orcutt of Cambridge,

Mr. William Dana Orcutt of Cambridge, Mass.

Mr. Orcutt has gained wide distinction in the literary world for his magasine work, and his book, "Good Old Dorchester," is a New England classic.

Mr Orcutt met his fiancee while she was singing at concerts in Boston.

Miss Thompson, besides being an exceptionally beautiful girl, has a rare voice, which for two years past has been trained by the best masters in the East.

Her marriage will end a musical carser of remarkable promise. Miss Thompson had every reason to look forward to a brilliant future in grand opera. She had been encouraged by Messrs. Abbey, Schoeffel Lind Grau, and was to have made her debut with them shortly had not Cupid interfered.

The marriage will take place in April, and the young couple will go shroad for their wedding journey, remaining some time in Paris.

HE) RAN AFOUL OF A NEW WOMAN.

Dr. Cornwall Committed to Jail by Miss Julia Carroll,

A MERE SLIP OF A GIRL.

Because the Root Beer Man Declined to Answer Questions the Held Him in Contempt.

Will someone please state where this ne woman movement is going to end? The fin-de-siccle maiden has adopted man's attire, de-siecle maiden has adopted man's ettire, is elbowing down-trodden masculinity out of the business community and now a business man of means and weighty respectability has taken to the bushes to avoid being sent to jail by a silp of a girl who wasn't born till long after he had made a name for himself as a compounder of beverages which cheer and strengthen, but do not inebriate. Miss Julia A. Carroll doesn't look like a new woman, except in the physical sense. She isn't old and is fresh looking and blooming, and pretty—but that isn't any of she isn't old and is fresh looking and blooming, and pretty—but that isn't any of the public's business. She is a stenographer, and by grace of Gov. Stone and the laws of Missouri a notary public.

Dr. John Cornwall is a proprietary medicine man, with money to burn. He declined to answer a question when ordered to do so by Miss Carroll and as one of the consequences he put in Wednesday night sluding the vigilant pursuit of a Deputy Sheriff, who was authorized and instructed by Miss Carroll to Immure him in a donjon and keep him till such time as he should show a readiness to purge himself of contempt.

Miss Carroll is a stenographer in the office of Attorneys A. J. P. & A. B. Garesche at Eighth and Chestnut streets. The other day, Dr. Cornwall' sued the McFarland Beal Estate Co. to annul a contract for the sale of his root beer establishment, because, it alliged, certain securities he took in payment had not been made good. The Real Estate Company retained Lawyer E. A. B. Garesche and Dr. Cornwall succured the services of Attorney William E. Fisse.

Wednesday Dr. Cornwall's deposition was taken in the case in which he was defendant, and to the subsequent discomfiture of Dr. Cornwall and mankind in general. It may not mean much when a few such women go before the public in this manner, for there are exceptions taken in the case in which he was defendant, and to the subsequent discomfiture of Dr. Cornwall and mankind in general Miss Carroll was selected as the commissioner.

She presided with great grace and as much dignity as the Court of Appeals on OVER NINETY THOUSAND!

She presided with great grace and as much dignity as the Court of Appeals on decision day. There wasn't a thing to mar the pleasure of the occasion until Mr. Garesche asked Dr. Cornwall:

"Who began the negotiations?"

Dr. Cornwall din't answer because Mr. Flsse, his attorney, wolldn't let him.

"I object, Mr.—I should say Miss Commissioner," interrupted Mr. Flsse, because the question is incompetent and immaterial. Mr. Garesche has no right in this suit to question Dr. Cornwall on any mater happening prior to the sale of the property."

To be exact, to give the record just as it stands, Ninety-one thousand seven hundred and thirty-four women have, of their own free will, written letters of gratitude to Dr. R. V. Pierce, author of the People's.Common Sense Medical Adviser and Chilef Consulting Physician to the invalids' Hotel and Fitting for a Scientific Expedition.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The schooner yacht Coronet, owned by D. Willis James and his son, Arthur Curtiss James, which defeated the schooner yacht Dauntiess in 1886, and which has sailed around the world, is being fitted out at the foot of Twenty-third street, South Brooklyn, for a scientific expedition to the coast of Japan. On the afternoon of August 8, next, at 8 o'clock in the afternoon, there will be a total sclipes of the sun, which will not be visible in this part of the globe, and it is for the purpose of observing this phenomenon that the expedition is being fitted out. The chief observer of the expedition will be Prof. David P. Todd, the emment astronomer of Ambrest College,

BLACK ON WHITE. WOMEN READERS, THESE FACTS ARE FOR YOU.

Mighty Army of Peace and Content

As everyone knows, women who make their living on the stage are fond of newspaper notoriety. So are also the members of the limited 400. The opposite is the case with the wives, mothers, sisters and daughters of the unlimited millions. They neither seek nor desire to parade their names and affairs before the public. Their common aense forbids it and their modesty shrinks from it. It is this very fact that renders the appearance in print of an army of plain people, a matter of the utmost importance, when the mother who personally rears her mediately if in want of one. of such women from hero, there and yon-der—from everywhere—an army numbering suit to question Dr. Cornwail on any matter happening prior to the sale of the property."

At this point, Mr. Fisse insists, Mr. Garesche lost his temper and said harsh things. Mr. Garesche states that he merely insisted that knowing from the allegations in the suit in which Dr. Cornwall is plaintiff that his defense to the present one would be fraud and misrepresentation during the negotiations, he had a perfect right to ask about the latter.

Preserving her composure perfectly during this exciting passage, Miss Carroll remarked. "Dr. Cornwall, you must answer the question."

"Do not answer," said Mr. Fisse.

"Then I shall ask for Dr. Cornwall's commitment to jail until he is ready to answer," announced Mr. Garesche.

"I shall have to commit you to jail if you do not tell who began the negotiations, doclared Miss Carroll.

The fair commissioner adjourned her tribunal and drew up the commitment in due form. It was during this formality that Dr. Cornwall disappeared.

Mr. Fisse estates that he and his client left Mr. Garesche's office at this juncture because Mr. Garesche told him that they would be needed no longer. The measures who delivered the commitment at the Sheriff's office stated that Mr. Fisse fold Dr. Cornwall that he had better go to jail without ado, as it would be a matter of but a short time until he was released by habeas corpus proceedings.

Mr. Fisse denies this and told a Poet-Dispatch reporter that Dr. Cornwall would be not the properties of the said of the properties of the many the first office stated that Mr. Fisse fold Dr. Cornwall that he had better go to jail without ado, as it would be a matter of but a short time until he was released by habeas corpus proceedings.

Mr. Fisse denies this and told a PoetDispatch reporter that Dr. Cornwall would probably find no difficulty in getting his Thanksgiving dinner, and it wouldn't be in to his client that in such cases the constructive commitment doesn't go and he would have to go to jail if arrested and remain till a habeas corpus could be secured and the admissibility of the question passed on.

KILLED BY A. BOY.

Fred Bowenkamp Caned a Youngster for Snowballing and Met His Death.

Frederick Bowenkamp, a cigar dealer at 2227 Easton avenue, chastised a youngster for pelting him with snowballs and the young man retaliated by hitting him with a brick and killing him instantly. The youth-ful murderer is unknown.

Two boys are under arrest at the Third District Station, the older of them is suspected of having been Bowenkamp's as sailant, but there is no evidence against either of them. A youngster named New-bold is suspected of having killed Bowenkamp, but the police are unable to locate bold is suspected of having killed Bowenkamp, but the police are unable to locate him.

The killing occurred in front of Bowenkamp's store at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. A boy about 16 years old, wearing light trousers and a black coat and hat entered Bowenkamp's place and shortly afterwards came running out, followed by Bowenkamp, who held a heavy cane behind his back. When the boy reached the sidewalk he stopped and Bowenkamp ran to where he was standing. Then the old man suddenly raised his cane and struck the youngster on the top of the head. There was a yell and then the boy disappeared around a corner. But he came back in a jiffy, carrying a brick, which he hurled at Bowenkamp. It struck the old man over the heart and he fell to the ground. The boy ran up Easton avenue to Grand, where he turned north and disappeared. Several people witnessed the affair and two of the spectators, Joseph Sporing, 5.15 Cook avenue, and John Lozer, 3147 Clifton place, ran to where Bowenkamp was lying. They picked him up, carried him into his cigar store and summoned Dr. H. C. Dalton, who pronounced the old man dead. The body was taken to the Morgue, where an inquest will be held Friday morning.

When the police learned of the killing they arrested William Hickey, 16 years old of 2607 Cass avenue, on suspicion of having they arrested William Hickey, 16 years old of 2607 Cass avenue, on suspicion of having been in company with Bowenkamp's slayer. Both boys say they witnessed the killing, but deny having had anything to do with it.

Artillery Maneuvers at Forest Park Viewed by Army Officers.

Light Battery A, under command of Capt. Frank M. Rumbold, turned out Thanksgiving morning for parade, forty strong. With four guns and calssons, the strong. With four guns and caissons, the march to Forest Park was taken up at $1.39. At the park the battery was put through an extensive practice drill of several hours' duration.

The drill was viewed by a number of regular army officers from Jefferson Barracks, who rode out in the parade grounds. The command returned to the Armory early in the afternoon.

The annual parade of the 1st Regiment was abandoned, owing to the bad condition of the streets, but the Armory was full of soldiers in uniform Thursday morning, and several of the companies were given practice drills by their officers.

THE FINGER RING.

in Popular Favor.

The finger ring as an ornament, as a token of honor or affection and as a stamp hand." So also when King Ahasuerus advanced Haman he placed his ring on his hand, taking it back when Haman was disgraced, and bestowing it upon his successor Mordecai. And when Ahasuerus sent proc amations to his 127 provinces from India to Ethiopia, they were "sealed with the King's ring."

Not only was the finger ring in vogue thousands of years ago, but the precious stones of the Nineteenth Century were those prized in those days. The ruby, topax, carbuncle, emerald, sapphire, diamond, agate, amethyst, onyx and jasper were the stones to be put in the breastplate of judgment referred to in Exodus (B. C. 1500).

The ring shows no sign of declining in favor. On the contrary, the demand is greater than ever. This is attributed largely to the latter day fads of women's clubs, progressive euchre parties and suph functions in which rings are the souvenirs or prizes.

Of course the engagement ring is as popular as ever. A girl does not feel really engaged until the solitaire diamond ring is placed on her finger as the token of it. This, in fancy and plain settings, remains the proper thing. At Mermod & Jaccard's, Broadway and Locust, a Post-Dispatch resporter was shewn the latest styles and fads in finger ornaments. The harquise ring for ladies still remains a fad. They come in all diamonds, diamond and ameralds, sapphires, opais, rubles or turquoise; the peculiarity of the diamonds and turquoise is the remarkable whiteness it gives the hand the appearance of having.

The Oval-shaped setting of diamond and opal and the Queen Anne tyle in the same gems are greatly admired. The same shapes come in ruby and diamonds, or with emerald or other gems, according to fairoy, surrounded by a cluster of diamonds, or three diamonds shape, and any gems can be so cut. Another beautiful fad is the three-stone wedding ring, arranged with either ruby or sapphire and two diamonds, or three diamonds. Another novelty is a gentleman's ring of two cfroles, one of platinum and one of gold with diamond set between them; another on this order is made of three single stone rings faxtened together so as to look like three separate rings. Another style is an inverted S of pearls and diamonds. Another novelty of setting is of pearls surro
